How are Turkey–Libya relations?

Relations between Turkey and Libya are close, strategic, and security-driven, especially since Libya’s civil war.

1. Strong Military & Security Ties

- Turkey backed Libya’s UN-recognized government during the civil war
- Supplied drones, training, advisors, and military support
- Turkish involvement helped shift the battlefield balance

2. Maritime & Energy Cooperation

- A major Turkey–Libya maritime deal (2019) redefined sea boundaries
- Boosted Turkey’s claims in the Eastern Mediterranean
- Angered Greece, Egypt, and some EU states

3. Political Alignment

- Turkey supports Libya’s internationally recognised authorities, not rival eastern factions
- Frequent high-level visits and coordination on security and reconstruction

4. Economic & Reconstruction Interests

Turkish firms are active in:

- Construction
- Infrastructure
- Energy projects
- Libya is seen as a gateway for Turkey into North Africa

5. Strategic Importance

For Turkey:

- Mediterranean influence
- Energy security
- Regional power projection

For Libya:

- Military backing
- Diplomatic support
- Post-war rebuilding assistance
